

Mr. Murphy returned to the United States following the end of World War II and the family moved back to San Francisco. Hardships persisted for the family as Mrs. Murphy, seven months pregnant with their second child, contracted polio. Fortunately, Mrs. Murphy survived the disease without side effects and gave birth to their son, Dennis Raymond, without complication. The family went on to welcome their third child, Teresa Anne "Terry," in 1953. After raising their children in Sherman Oaks, in 2000, the couple settled in Roseville, California.

Throughout her life, Mrs. Murphy devoted herself to caring for her family and community. She was a devoted and hardworking mother as well as an invaluable volunteer and leader at school and church events. She donated her time to several charitable organizations including serving as President of Marymount Mother's Club and of Saint Anne's Foundation for Unwed Mothers.

Mrs. Murphy also enjoyed an active lifestyle, including golf, Tai Chi, and walking her beloved dogs. Mr. & Mrs. Murphy were avid travelers, visiting four continents and traversing the United States. Later in life, they took several extended motorhome vacations exploring the colors of the Northeast and the wilderness of Alaska.

Mrs. Murphy is preceded in death by her loving husband of 71 years, Jack. She is survived by three children, six grandchildren, nine great-grandchildren, and countless friends. We will dearly miss Mrs. Murphy's kind spirit, but her laugh and warm smile will live on in our memories. I would like to extend my deepest sympathies to Mrs. Murphy's loved ones. I know they join in me celebrating her life and the countless ways she changed our lives for the better.

CONGRATULATING LAWRENCE HIGGINBOTTOM BEING NAMED ANIMAL CONTROL OFFICER OF THE YEAR

HON. STEVE COHEN

OF TENNESSEE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 3, 2022

Mr. COHEN. Madam Speaker, I rise today to congratulate Lawrence Higginbottom of Memphis Animal Services, who has been named Animal Control Officer of the Year by the National Animal Care and Control Association. Part of his job—a part he has a reputation for handling well—is reuniting animals with their owners, a priority with progressive animal shelters like Memphis Animal Services that operate on a "community-centered" model. The shelter recently received a $50,000 grant from an animal welfare group to hire a pet-reunification specialist. According to a story in The Daily Memphian, Mr. Higginbottom recently picked up a dog in Memphis that had been on the loose for five years. Because the dog had received an under-skin microchip, Mr. Higginbottom quickly found the owners by phone—650 miles away in Austin, Texas. The family arrived to pick up Cheerio the next day. Because most dogs are lost less than half a mile from their owners' homes, Mr. Higginbottom often finds himself knocking on nearby neighbors' doors with the lost pet on a leash. When the shelter held a dog-owner reunification competition among animal control officers this past summer, Mr. Higginbottom won it. As a proud and longtime member of the Congressional Animal Protection Caucus, it is inspiring to know that Memphis has such a caring and thoughtful animal control officer. I congratulate Mr. Higginbottom for this well-deserved national recognition.

RECOGNIZING THE 100TH GREATER ST. LOUIS HONOR FLIGHT

HON. BLAINE LUETKEMEYER

OF MISSOURI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 3, 2022

Mr. LUETKEMEYER. Madam Speaker, I rise to congratulate the Greater St. Louis Honor Flight on their 100th flight and thank them for honoring our veterans in such a meaningful way. Organizations like the Honor Flight Network let Missouri veterans know how truly grateful we are for service and sacrifice in the name of freedom.

The Honor Flight Network has been flying veterans from the Greater St. Louis Area to Washington DC since 2008, allowing those who protected our great country to see the grand memorials erected in their honor. On November 1st the Greater St. Louis Honor Flight completed its 100th flight. It is now one of only two chapters in the country to reach that milestone. Missouri's 3rd District is the proud home of thousands of veterans. While we can never thank our heroes enough for what they've done for each and every one of us, programs like the Honor Flight do a great job of reminding them how much we value their service and of our dedication to honoring them now and far into the future.

Madam Speaker, please join me in congratulating the Greater St. Louis Honor Flight on their 100th flight.

IN RECOGNITION OF CHIEF FRANK FREDERICKSON

HON. WILLIAM R. KEATING

OF MASSACHUSETTS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 3, 2022

Mr. KEATING. Madam Speaker, I rise today in recognition of Chief Frank Frederickson as he retires from the Yarmouth Police Department after 45 years of dedicated service.

Chief Frederickson first began his extensive career with the Yarmouth Police Department in 1977 as a summer officer and was brought on full-time as a patrol officer in 1979. Over the years, Chief Frederickson rose through the ranks, being promoted to detective, patrol sergeant, detective sergeant, lieutenant, deputy chief of police, and finally chief of police in 2010.

During his time with the Yarmouth Police Department, Chief Frederickson continuously worked to make sure that residents felt safe in their community and strove to foster a strong relationship between the people of Yarmouth and their police department. Through an active outreach program, the use of social media, and programs like Coffee with the Chief—a monthly event that allows the community to come together to connect with the Chief and the Yarmouth Police Department to ask questions and hear more about the police department's work—Chief Frederickson aimed to ensure that the community felt informed and that their voices were heard. These efforts did not go unnoticed; the Yarmouth Police Department was the recipient of the New England Association of Chiefs of Police Community Policing Award several times under Chief Frederickson's leadership.

Holding an associate's, bachelor's, and master's degree in criminal justice from Cape Cod Community College, Northeastern University, and Anna Maria College, respectively, Chief Frederickson has been a leader in public safety and criminal justice not only in his own community, but also across the Commonwealth and throughout the New England region. During his 12 years as chief, Frederickson sat on the Executive Board of the New England Association of Chiefs of Police and served as president of the Cape and Islands Police Chiefs Association and the Southeastern Massachusetts Police Chiefs Association.

After 45 years of service, Chief Frederickson retires from the Yarmouth Police Department on October 31st. Chief Frederickson has dedicated his career to serving the people of Yarmouth, and I wish him many years of well-deserved happiness in retirement with his children and wife, Michelle.

Madam Speaker, I am proud to honor Chief Frank Frederickson. I ask that my colleagues join me in recognizing his career and commitment to serving his community.

RECOGNIZING DANIEL FRANKLIN

HON. ERIC SWALWELL

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 3, 2022

Mr. SWALWELL. Madam Speaker, I rise today, along with Congressman MARK DESAULNIER, to recognize Daniel "Dan" Franklin—a distinguished World War II veteran, and a loving father, grandfather, and great grandfather—who has just celebrated his 95th birthday.

Dan was 16 when he joined the Navy in 1942 and was only 17 on D-Day, where his landing craft was charged with delivering soldiers and ammunition to Omaha Beach. The ship was shot out from under Dan, and although he lost many of his crewmates, Dan survived by creating an artificial breakwater.

In 2013, he received the French Legion of Honor medal, created in 1802 by Napoleon Bonaparte and considered France's highest honor, one that has been awarded to surviving American veterans for their heroism on D-Day. Recipients of the Legion of Honor are known as "Chevalier (Knight) of the Légion d'Honneur."

Dan was discharged from the Navy in February 1946, at the age of 19. Initially resuming work at a florist shop in Kansas City, Dan decided to look for a different occupation. Through help of friends, family and the local Jewish Federation, Dan embarked on what was to be a 43-year career in the paper distribution business.

Even though he did not complete high school, Dan advanced his career, moving to Dallas, Chicago and finally Moraga, California, as a vice-president of a seven-billion-dollar corporation.

He has survived his wife Marilyn, but is still the center of a family of four children, eleven grandchildren, two great grandchildren and many nieces and nephews.

HONORING THE LIFE AND SERVICE OF CARL DENNIS ANDERSON

HON. JOE COURTNEY

OF CONNECTICUT

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 3, 2022

Mr. COURTNEY. Madam Speaker, I rise to honor the life and legacy of a "man of the people" from eastern Connecticut, Mr. Carl Anderson. Carl recently passed away on June 21, 2022, at age 79, leaving a rich legacy of devotion to his community, family and the pursuit of justice on behalf of thousands of clients in the courts of the State of Connecticut. Carl's life was a rich one, which he led with great gusto, arguing cases before countless juries, raising a beautiful family or pursuing his love of fishing.

Born on Independence Day in Voluntown, Connecticut, in 1942 to Carl Sr. and Ellen Anderson, Carl was a living image of the American story. Much of Carl's life and community-oriented perspective was afforded by his nurturing family and hometown. For instance, he was raised in his parent's family-owned business, Tamarack Lodge, and met the love of his life, Karen, who he was wed to for nearly 50 years, in Voluntown. Tamarack Lodge was eventually passed down to Carl Jr. and Karen, which they then used to continue the family tradition by raising children of their own, Christopher, Michael, and Kate, while contributing to the local economy for nearly 30 years.

The strong foundation which Carl formed through the Town of Voluntown cannot be understated. His strong sense for community caused him to be quite an adept advocate on behalf of others. Backed by his passion for community, Carl attended the University of Connecticut, also in the eastern district of the State, where he ultimately earned his law degree. Carl employed that law degree towards the good of the region starting his own law firm representing individuals and families first with his closest partners, before bringing his sons Christopher and Michael into the fold.

Throughout his tenure as a trial lawyer, Carl built a brand of commitment toward helping all those in need, whether it was an injured victim or an individual in need of trusted advice. His character and skill to practice law proved remarkable. Carl performed a true dedication in service to Connecticut's civil justice system, which was recognized by his colleagues in the Connecticut bar who elected him as president of the Connecticut trial lawyers association. Carl also was extremely involved in the political life of eastern Connecticut, supporting campaigns of former congressman and Senator Christopher Dodd, Congressman Sam Gejdenson,—and I am proud to say—myself. Carl was a true-blue friend whose support and advice were treasured by us all.

Known for being proud of his background, Carl also volunteered time toward causes which he felt strongly close to. With his Northern European family roots, Carl acted as the Honorary Consul in Connecticut on behalf of the nation of Finland, supporting the country's diplomatic network and nationals abroad with his local, legal ties. His more than 40 years of service in this part time role earned him the Finnish accolade, the Commander of the Order of the Lion of Finland. Another example of his dedication to his local community includes his membership and service as the chairman of one of Voluntown's local party committees, reflecting his longstanding priority to engage with his neighbors and effect change within the town for the better.

Madam Speaker, it is an honor to represent constituents who are as humble, dutiful, and distinguished as Carl Anderson. His loss will be felt throughout the region. We can find solace, however, in knowing that Carl touched the lives of thousands in the region as well as his family and loved ones, namely, his wife Karen, his children Christopher, Michael, and Elizabeth and Katie, and his sister Beverly. To that end, I ask that the entire chamber join me in setting Carl Anderson's name further into stone, officially recognizing his life and service to our Nation.

HONORING THE RETIREMENT OF DR. CYNTHIA WARRICK AS 7TH PRESIDENT OF STILLMAN COLLEGE

HON. TERRI A. SEWELL

OF ALABAMA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 3, 2022

Ms. SEWELL. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize the leadership of Dr. Cynthia Warrick, the 7th and first female President of Stillman College, who is retiring on June 30, 2023, after over five wonderful years of service to the college and the surrounding community.

Dr. Warrick obtained her Bachelor of Science in Pharmacy from Howard University. She went on to earn a master's degree in Public Policy from the Georgia Institute of Technology and a doctorate in Environmental Science and Public Policy from George Mason University.

A pharmacist and health services researcher by trade, Dr. Warrick brought over 20 years of experience to her position as Stillman College President. She began her career in higher education at Howard University. From there, she accepted appointments at the University of Texas Houston Health Science Center, Texas Southern University, Florida Agricultural and Mechanical University, and Elizabeth City State University. Prior to her tenure at Stillman College, Dr. Warrick's most recent positions include Interim President of Grambling State University and South Carolina State University and senior research and evaluation fellow at Thurgood Marshall College Fund in Washington. Dr. Warrick has been recognized nationally for her leadership and invaluable contributions to healthcare research.

Under the exceptional guidance of Dr. Warrick, Stillman College has made many advancements, expanding its educational programs to ensure that its students are competitive in the 21st-century workforce. Known as a collaborative leader, her focus on academic excellence, administrative accountability, and student success outcomes is evident in her success as president through the increased opportunities for prospective students, stabilization of institution finances, and enhanced donor partnerships. Along with financial and academic growth, Dr. Warrick prioritized historic preservation, working to strengthen Stillman's connection with the Presbyterian Church USA and the West End Tuscaloosa community.

Since her installation in 2017, Stillman College has seen its largest incoming class of freshmen since 2014, an increase in student enrollment, SACSCOC accreditation for another 10 years without any recommendations or further action, and the addition of multiple programs to diversify coursework in business, music, and film. Understanding the power of partnership, Dr. Warrick spearheaded the college's fight to address its debt. By rallying the presidents of over 40 institutions with HBCU capital finance loans, policymakers, and members of Congress, she pushed for the deferment of the loans and, through hard work and dedication, got the entire 40-million-dollar debt eliminated, making Stillman College debt-free.

Over the past five years, Stillman's grant funding and sponsored programs have increased tremendously to over 12.8 million dollars by leveraging the resources Stillman already had. As an avid supporter of HBCUs, Dr. Warrick saw the potential in Stillman despite the many challenges she faced during her tenure to meet the current and future needs of Stillman's student body. Dr. Warrick expanded the graduate school pathways through an existing partnership with the University of Alabama and established summer research opportunities within biomedical sciences with Drexel University, the Salk Institute, and LaJolla Research Institute in Immunology. Continuing to blaze trails and create new opportunities for her students, she secured a historic annual appropriation from the State of Alabama Education Trust Fund.

Under the strong helm of Dr. Warrick, Stillman College has strengthened its nurturing environment for students to thrive, providing them with the resources they need to stay successful and competitive in the 21st century. Taking her experience as a researcher into her position as president, Dr. Warrick's dynamic vision has set the foundation for a bright future for Stillman College, leaving a lasting impact on the administration, student body, and Tuscaloosa community for years to
